Resources

BBEDC - This program provides the services of selected grant-writing consultants in a paid block of time in the form of a grant to eligible BBEDC CDQ cities or tribal governing entities. Funds gained through the grants are critical for replacing aging infrastructure and program development which creates income generating opportunities for residents. The choice of which firm will be assigned is reserved to BBEDC. Services include targeting project funding searches and/or varying levels of proposal development as well as grant proposal mentoring.

Alaska Municipal League (AML) - AML and its partners have collaborated to offer a FREE pre-grant application consultation to talk through their interests, eligibility, and processes for upcoming funding opportunities with an experienced grant writer. Entities that have identified a grant that they believe fits a need, should follow the intake process outlined with AFN's Navigator Program.
- For other grant writing sources that are consultants and fee based or more information, check out this Grant Writing Tools webpage.
- AML has additionally developed a pool of grant writers to assist with grant writing needs. Please visit https://alaskaarpa.org/resources/grant-writing-tools/.

AFN Navigator Program - Helping Alaska Natives stop COVID and secure resources.
AFN and AML are collaborating to offer tribal governments a free opportunity to talk through the pre-grant application process with an experienced grant writer. Tribal government representatives will be able to discuss their needs and priorities and learn about basic processes to apply for federal grants.If you would like to visit with the grant writer, here's the process:
- Contact AML at membersupport@akml.org or 907-586-1325 to indicate your interest.
- AML will get your name, affiliation, contact information, and a short version of your needs.
- AML will share that information with our contracted grant writing professional, who will contact you directly to schedule some time for a phone meeting.

You may select any or all of the topics below, to discuss with the grant writer.

- Needs or priorities of your community and why you need funding.
- Grant opportunities that might be a 'good fit' for your need(s).
- Budgets and other requirements commonly needed with grant applications.
- Timing needed to write grants, along with key steps for gathering and coordinating information.
- Requirements of registration in SAM.gov.
- Purpose for registering in Grants.gov.

Updated April 7, 2022

- Access to the online public website that lists all of your agency's awarded grants.
- Review of the Alaska State website that lists all Tribal debt for taxes or unemployment costs.

The meeting time is flexible, but in consideration of others who would like to meet with the grant writer, we would ask you to limit your call time to one hour. If requested, the grant writer consultant will schedule a good time to call you back to continue the conversation.

Alaska Federal Funding

Multiple partners including AML, State of Alaska, the Alaska Small Business Development Center, AFN, Rasmuson Foundation, Alaska Chamber, Cook Inlet Housing Authority, Foraker and more have collaborated to create a website to help Alaskans respond to opportunities and inform decision making.

Southwest Alaska Municipal Conference (SWAMC)

SWAMC staff are actively engaged in conversations with other ARDORs, the Alaska Small Business Development Center, Alaska Municipal League, and other State and Federal agency representatives to understand the many resources available for businesses, municipalities, tribes, and individuals who are impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic and retained a contractor to provide on-call one-on-one assistance to city, borough, tribal, and business representatives seeking to apply to these programs. Have questions about whether your project is eligible for a grant? Need help understanding confusing grant language? Don't even know where to start? Give the contractor a call at (907) 242-4077 or email ARPA@swamc.org
